Green Season

1st November 2017 – 31st March 2018

* Undara Experience commences our Green Season operational change over as of the 1st November each year. It's called the Green Season because it's the time of year when we receive our annual monsoon rains. As we receive only 700mm of rain per year, our climate is considerably drier than what you experience on the North Qld coastline. This is the time of year to experience our incredible native wildlife at its best as they take advantage of the sudden abundance of food and water.

Limitations on tours, meals and accommodation do occur. Bookings for all are required. Closer to this time details are released. Please ask our reservations team for more information should you require it earlier.
